Accreditation

The Cumberland School of Law—established in 1847—is fully approved by all national and state accrediting agencies. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is fully approved by the American Bar Association through its Section of Legal Education. It is approved also by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York. Because of this approval, a graduate of the School of Law is eligible to take the bar examination in any state in the Union. The School is also approved by the Veterans Administration. The Cumberland School of Law—in operation since its inception except for a brief period during the Civil War—now is the largest law school in Alabama, and the largest Baptist supported law school in the world.

Aims and Objectives of Law School

The program of the School of Law is twofold. It seeks to maintain high standards of legal education and prepare young men and women for the practice of law. It also seeks to provide legal training for those planning to enter business or public service. The overall aim is to develop the analytical powers of the student, as well as to provide him with a knowledge of legal principles and their historical development. At the same time, the program seeks to instill in each student a high sense of the ethics of the profession.

The School of Law is an integral part of Samford University. The objectives of the University and the Law School are identical in principle. The church-related School of Law emphasizes Christian precepts which are interwoven into our legal principles. The Law School is determined to teach the significance of law as a genuine part of the culture of the nation and make each student aware of a social responsibility in the context of Christian ethics and the highest traditions of the legal profession.

The Cumberland School of Law recognizes the strategic importance of the legal profession which has almost complete control over the judiciary of our states and our nation and largely dominates the legislative and executive branches of our national and state government. The school seeks to emphasize the American concept of maximum liberty in every phase of life for each individual, consistent with order in society.

History of the Cumberland School of Law

The Cumberland Law School was established in 1847 as a part of Cumberland University in Lebanon, Tennessee. The School has been in continuous operation except for a brief period during the Civil War.

The School was acquired by Samford University in 1961, and has experienced a period of growth and progress that has made it the largest law school in the state.

The School is housed in the Memory Leake Robinson Hall, one of the finest law school facilities in the nation.

The student body this year consists of more than 400 students coming from 32 states and three foreign countries. Cumberland today has every recognition possible for an American Law School.

Pride of the School is its modern Cordell Hull Law Library and its excellent collection of more than 60,000 books and legal periodicals. With the addition of the new microfilm library, Cumberland students have access to one of the best research libraries in the South.

Since January, 1965, the School has offered to qualified candidates, in addition to the LL.B. degree, the Doctor of Jurisprudence. The School has a fully-accredited evening division which offers area residents a quality legal education on a part-time basis.

The Cumberland School of Law currently has distinguished alumni practicing law in all 50 states and several foreign countries. The School has graduated 8,150 alumni with LL.B. degrees and over 1,000 alumni with Doctor of Jurisprudence degrees. Cumberland is one of the very few truly national law schools located in the southeast.

Alumni

Graduates of the Cumberland School of Law today can be found in nearly every part of the world. Alumni are in all 50 states of the nation, the District of Columbia, the Philippines, the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Canada, Cuba, Egypt, Japan, Korea, Mexico and Pakistan. Many of these graduates now occupy distinguished positions of high responsibility in education, government and in business. Among its more than 9,000 alumni—of which more than 4,000 are still living—the School of Law has produced at least 10 governors, two United States Supreme Court justices, a Secretary of State of the United States, 10 United States senators, 75 United States representatives, in addition to numerous supreme court justices of the various states, federal district and appellate judges, state appellate justices, state attorneys general, lieutenant governors, United States and state district attorneys, diplomatic officials, college presidents, law professors, distinguished legal writers and scholars, and administrative officials of the United States and state governments. Also, a large number of outstanding practitioners, corporate heads, circuit judges, chancellors, members of state legislatures, county judges and other county and municipal officials received their legal training at the Cumberland School of Law.

The Cumberland School of Law, down through the years, has been regularly staffed with many brilliant legal scholars—distinguished men such as Abraham Caruthers, author of Caruthers' History of Lawsuit; Dr. Andrew C. Martin; Nathan Green, Sr.; Nathan Green, Jr.; Grafton Green; A. B. Neil; Sam B. Gilreath, revisor of History of a Lawsuit and editorial consultant for the new Tennessee Code; and many other outstanding leaders of the profession. The faculty of the Cumberland School of Law today is the largest and strongest in the school's long history.

Location

Samford University—home of the Cumberland School of Law—is located on an attractive, 400-acre campus featuring Colonial-Georgian architecture. It has been described as one of the most beautiful in the nation. Located in the picturesque mountainous area of Shades Valley, the educational facility has unlimited possibilities for continued growth and development.

The Law School and University are located in the metropolitan area of Birmingham, Alabama's largest city. Birmingham is the state's industrial, business and cultural center. Many fine recreational facilities are available. The University is easily reached by an excellent system of railways, airlines and highways. Its attractive campus has become a tourist attraction.

Robinson Hall, the home of the School of Law, is located in the center of the campus, just east of the main library.

Alabama Law Institute

Cumberland School of Law officials are members of the Alabama Law Institute, which was established by the Alabama Legislature in 1967 as an official advisory law revision, law reform and legal research agency of the State of Alabama.

Membership in the Institute includes leading lawyers, judges, law professors and officials of the State of Alabama. The Institute is designed to devise and carry out a plan of continuous revision of the Alabama Code, to carry on scholarly discussions of current problems, and to make recommendations to the Legislature concerning needed improvements in the substantive and adjective law of the state.

Serving on the Institute are the Dean and all of the full-time faculty of the School of Law. It is expected that the faculty and students of the law school will be called upon to assist in the research and drafting of major projects undertaken by the Institute.

Continuing Legal Education

The Cumberland School of Law of Samford University and the School of Law of the University of Alabama cooperate with the Alabama Bar Association in a statewide program of Continuing Legal Education.

Samford University History

Samford University is the largest privately-supported and fully-accredited co-educational institution of higher learning in Alabama.

The educational facility opened its doors for the first time on Jan. 3, 1842, in Marion, Ala., as Howard College. It was founded by a group of educational, economic and religious leaders. Howard College survived two destructive fires, and the partial paralysis of the Civil War and Reconstruction. It was moved to Birmingham in 1887.

In 1920, Howard College gained membership in the Southern Association of Colleges. The establishment of the Teacher Education Division and the Division of Pharmacy highlighted the school's continuous growth throughout the years.

In 1947, the trustees of the institution acquired a tract of 400 acres in Shades Valley in the Homewood-Mountain Brook section of Birmingham. The Alabama Baptist State Convention authorized the building of a new campus on this site, and work was begun in 1954. Howard College moved to the new site in the summer of 1957.

The historic and renowned Cumberland School of Law was acquired in 1961. In 1965, the Master's Degree program was reinstated.

As a result of these accomplishments, Howard College was officially elevated to University status on Nov. 9, 1965.

The new University was named for Frank Park Samford, member of one of Alabama's most respected Baptist families, chairman of the Howard College Board of Trustees since 1939, and the institution's "greatest individual benefactor."

The University now consists of the Cumberland School of Law, School of Business, School of Education, School of Graduate Studies, School of Pharmacy, School of Music, and the Howard College of Arts and Sciences. The historic Howard College continues in existence but as part of a greater institution.

Purpose

The purpose of Samford University is to promote Christianity through the development of Christian character. A sense of personal responsibility, and the opportunity and stimulus for each student to secure a broad and academically sound education in a positive Christian environment is stressed. To this end, Samford University attempts to define and convey to the student the Christian world view.

In fulfilling such a purpose, Samford University seeks to develop Christian leaders for widely varied fields of service. It strives constantly for academic excellence in conscious expression of the Christian faith with its commitment to the primacy of truth, its concern for human values and the inter-relationship of faith and reason.

The Cordell Hull Library

The Law Library contains a collection in excess of 60,000 volumes. The library is kept up-to-date by the constant addition of newly published books, current legal periodicals, and the current loose-leaf services.

All of the published opinions of the courts of last resort of all the states of the United States, together with the reports of all the Federal Courts, and the intermediate Appellate Courts of the State of New York and California are found in the library. It contains over 250 complete sets of the leading legal periodicals, kept up-to-date, and current volumes of many other legal periodicals. It also contains federal and state codes, statutory materials, treatises, and textbooks. The library contains the National Reporter and Digest Systems, Corpus Juris, Corpus Juris Secundum, Ruling Case Law, American Jurisprudence, L.R.A., both original and new series, American Law Reports, Federal Cases, United States Reports, American Reports, American Decisions, American State Reports, English Ruling Cases, and British Ruling Cases. In addition, the library keeps a great collection of other standard law books, the English Reprint and all later published cases, and the current Statutes Revised. Australian, New Zealand, Philippine, Canadian, Puerto Rican, African and other Common Law materials are available in complete sets and are kept current. Specialized sets such as Cox's Criminal Law Cases and Lloyd's List Law Reports are available. A Mark VII Microcard Reader together with microcards of the complete briefs and records of the U.S. Supreme Court for recent years are available. Large quantities of materials on microfilm have been obtained recently.

The Green Chair of Law

In 1948 the Green Chair of Law was established in connection with the Second Century Program of development of Cumberland University while Cumberland was being operated under the auspices of the Tennessee Baptist Convention. This endowed Chair was named in honor of three men who rendered distinguished service to Cumberland University and to the State of Tennessee. These were Nathan Green; his son, Nathan Green, Junior; and the latter's son, Grafton Green. Nathan Green and Nathan Green, Junior, were professors in the School of Law. Grafton Green was an alumnus of the University, and took time from his arduous duties as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Tennessee to serve as special lecturer in the School of Law.

By action of the Board of Trustees in January, 1950, the late Judge Sam B. Gilbreath was appointed Green Professor of Law. The chair is presently vacant.

Academic Information

Admission Requirements

Applicants for admission to Cumberland School of Law as a candidate for the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree must have earned a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university with a cumulative grade point average which, when considered with the score on the Law School Admission Test, and other relevant data, indicates a reasonable probability of success in the study of law. Applicants are also required to present evidence of their personal integrity and good character as these factors are imperative to qualify for membership in the legal profession.

The Faculty Committee on Admissions, in determining the applicant's eligibility for acceptance, places particular emphasis on the applicant's previous academic record, and the Law School Admission Test score. Other factors indicating leadership qualities, social awareness, and moral character will be considered by the Committee on Admissions before final decision on acceptance is made.

Pre-Legal Education

Preparation for law study, as well as for later life, is best based on a broad liberal arts background, rather than on a narrowly specialized one. The Cumberland School of Law of Samford University has no set pre-law curriculum requirements for admission. Each person's qualifications will be evaluated individually. Rather than attempting to prescribe the specific content of the individual courses taken by a pre-law student, the Cumberland School of Law places greater emphasis on the student's ability to read and comprehend accurately, thoroughly and rapidly, to speak and write clearly and correctly, to think precisely and logically, to analyze complex fact situations, and to weigh and appraise legal and other materials. It is believed that to accomplish these purposes a student should take as much college work as possible. It is suggested that the pre-legal program of study include English composition and literature, economics, history, political science, philosophy, psychology and other subjects in the field of social sciences, as well as courses in the natural sciences, mathematics and accounting. It is believed that the above suggestions will tend to prepare the prospective law student academically and will also help make him aware of the moral and ethical principles inculcated in the Judeo-Christian tradition upon which western civilization is based. A baccalaureate degree usually satisfies these requirements.

Application Procedure

1. The applicant must complete and return the form, "Application for Admission" to the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University and fulfill all requirements noted in this form. Each application form (or official letter of acceptance) is valid only for the specific semester or term in which admission is sought. The School of Law is presently admitting beginning students in the fall and spring semester and the summer term, however, beginning students desiring to enter other than in the fall semester should consult the Dean.

2. The applicant for admission as a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence must have earned a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university.

The applicant must arrange to have the college or university, from which the bachelor's degree was received, send directly to the School of Law an official transcript indicating the degree conferred, and a transcript of all other college level work. Both graduate and undergraduate transcripts must be sent by the issuing institution directly to the School of Law.

If the applicant has not yet received the bachelor's degree as of the date he wishes to make application, but desires consideration for early acceptance, he should arrange to have the college or university where he is in attendance, send directly to the School of Law a transcript indicating no less than six completed academic semesters, approximately 96 semester hours or its equivalent; and, if acceptance is granted on the basis of this partial transcript it will be granted subject to the applicant's satisfactorily completing the requirements for the bachelor's degree and all other requirements for admission.

3. The applicant must take the Law School Admission Test administered by the Educational Testing Service and arrange to have the Educational Testing Service send directly to the School of Law the results of the Law School Admission Test. Information concerning this test may be obtained by contacting LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST, EDUCATIONAL TESTING SERVICE, BOX 944, PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY, 08540.

Applications for admission to the Law School must be accompanied by a non-refundable fee of $15.00. No application will be considered unless accompanied by this fee.

Each applicant accepted for admission to the School of Law must forward an acceptance deposit in the amount of $50.00, in order to reserve his position in the entering class. Failure to remit this deposit within ten days of the date of the letter of acceptance shall result in a revocation of the applicant's acceptance for admission. This deposit is not refundable but is credited to the applicant's tuition, along with the $15.00 application fee.

No decision will be made regarding the admission of an applicant until all material requested has been received by the School of Law, and the Faculty Committee on Admissions has reviewed the qualifications of each applicant.

The Committee on Admissions will weigh carefully all factors involving the applicant's qualifications, however, those applicants with exceptionally good undergraduate grade point averages and Law School Admission Test scores will be given preference. The School of Law reserves the right to alter or amend the requirements for admission in any manner which the Dean and the faculty deem necessary and proper for the fulfillment of the objectives of the School of Law. Requests for additional information regarding admission should be directed to the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University, Birmingham, Alabama, 35209.

Transfer Students

It has been the experience of the School of Law that students transferring to this law school after beginning their study of the law elsewhere encounter significant problems of scheduling and curriculum, with resultant difficulty both for the student and for the school. Therefore, the School of Law does not encourage transfer students to seek admission. In exceptional circumstances, admission may be granted to students seeking advanced standing. The Faculty Committee on Admissions will give no consideration to a student who has previously been in attendance at another law school until a letter is received from the Dean of the Law School previously attended stating that the student is eligible to continue in good standing and not under any academic or disciplinary probation. Any student expecting favorable consideration on a transfer basis should have a cumulative grade point average of no less than C+(1.5 on a 3.0 scale) in his previous law school work.

Regular and Extended Program

The law school is presently divided into two divisions of programs of study; the Regular Division and Extended (Evening) Division. Substantially the same curriculum is offered in each division and standards are the same.

A student following the Regular program is expected to take between 12 and 15 semester hours of course work each academic semester and a beginning student in the Regular Program must carry a course load of no less than 12 semester hours during each of the first two academic semesters.

The student following the Extended (Evening) Division program must carry a course load of no less than 8 semester hours each academic semester.

Employment

A student enrolled in the Regular Program should not attempt to perform any substantial outside employment and any student employed for more than 20 hours a week will not be permitted to follow the Regular Program. All students may be required to give evidence of the extent of outside employment.

Since law school procedures are new and difficult, the work load heavy and the competition keen, students in the regular program should make every effort to arrange their finances so the first year of law study can be completed without the necessity of outside employment.

Requirements for the Degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence (J.D.)***

Students who have completed eighty-eight semester hours of acceptable credit with a minimum grade point average of 1.0 (which is equivalent to an average grade of "C") and who have acquired six semesters of prescribed residence credit in the Regular Division

*NOTE: "In an exceptional and unusual circumstance the degree of Bachelor of Laws may be conferred upon a student who may have been granted special permission to enter the School of Law without having first completed a baccalaureate degree. In no case will a student be considered who has not completed three years of work in an approved college or university and earned a minimum of 96 semester hours of substantial theory courses with a C or better average."

or eight semesters in the Extended Division (Evening) will, upon the recommendations of the faculty of the School of Law be granted the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence. In order to obtain residence credit a student in the Regular Division must carry a course load of no less than ten semester hours for each and every semester of the required six semesters; and a student in the Extended Division must carry a course load of no less than eight semester hours for each and every semester of the required eight semesters. All students in the Regular Division are expected to complete all requirements for their degree within three calendar years and all students in the Extended Division are expected to complete all requirements for their degree within four calendar years and any student who desires to deviate from this schedule is requested to consult with the Dean. All beginning students in the Regular Division will be required to carry a course load of no less than 12 semester hours for the first academic year. No student will be permitted to change his classification from the Regular Division to the Extended Division or from the Extended Division to the Regular Division during the semester or term for which he is enrolled. However, with the permission of the Dean he may change his classification at the end of the semester or term, which change would then be effective at the beginning of the next succeeding semester or term.

Honors

Candidates for the J. D. degree who, on the basis of their three-year's record in law school, are ranked in the top ten per cent scholastically of their graduating class may, upon the recommendation of the faculty, be awarded degrees "cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude." Students who have been admitted with advanced standing from other law schools must have maintained an over-all average grade of B on all transferred credit and have satisfactorily completed sixty semester hours of course work in the Cumberland School of Law, in order to be eligible for honors.

Combination J.D. and M.B.A. or M.A. Programs

A limited number of credit hours acceptable as part of the course load for the M.B.A. or for the M.A. in history and political science may be earned in the Law School. The Law School and Graduate School of Samford University now have a program designed to enable a student to use the summer terms following his first and second years in law school in meeting the requirements for both degrees. This will enable a student to graduate with his class and earn both the M.B.A. and J.D.; or M.A. in history and political science and J.D. degree in the time ordinarily required for the J.D. degree alone.

Late Enrollment, Changes of Schedules

1. No student shall be permitted to enroll in any course later than six days after classes in that course have begun.
2. All changes in schedules shall be adjusted during the first ten days of classes, and must be recorded in the Office of the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law by the student concerned.

Withdrawals

1. Any student who wishes to withdraw from any course after registration must have the written permission of the professor and a member of the Academic Standards Committee.
2. If a student who is doing satisfactory work drops a course during the first eight weeks, or its equivalent, "WP" (withdrew passing) will be entered on his record. This carries no academic penalty.
3. If a student who is doing unsatisfactory work in a course drops it the first eight weeks or its equivalent, "WF" (withdrew failing) will be entered on his record and will carry a penalty as if it were an outright "F."
4. No withdrawals from any course will be permitted after the first eight weeks without academic penalty except in most unusual circumstances. Any student who wishes to drop a course after eight weeks must first obtain the permission of his professor in that course and submit this, along with a petition to withdraw, to the Academic Standards Committee for consideration.
5. If a student drops out of school or drops a course without notifying the Dean in writing, "XF," will be entered on his record with the same penalty as "F."
6. The date of the course drop will be the date the official drop card properly signed by the appropriate officials is returned to the office of the Dean.

Unofficial Withdrawal and/or Discontinuance of Study in the School of Law

After an applicant has been accepted, and enrolled as a law student in the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University, he is expected to remain in continuous attendance for each and every subsequent academic semester until he fulfills all requirements for his law degree unless requested to withdraw because of academic deficiency or the violation of a rule or regulation of the Law School or University. Attendance during the summer terms is optional and therefore inapplicable to the above noted regulation unless a student is attending a summer term on a probationary status in which case this rule will also be in force with respect to that particular summer term.

A student who voluntarily discontinues study in the Law School or fails to complete any course in which he has been enrolled at any time prior to completion of the work required for the degree, (with the exception of the summer terms with the qualification noted in the above paragraph), must make a written request to the Dean for permission to withdraw, indicating the reasons therefor. Failure to make such written request to discontinue the study of law shall be deemed a withdrawal with prejudice. A withdrawal with prejudice shall be noted on the student's permanent record card and the student will be ineligible for re-admission to the Law School at a later date. (Failure to complete a drop slip will result in the entry of a failing grade in the course involved.)

Any student who with permission discontinues his law school for any reason after his initial enrollment and prior to completion of his degree and is re-admitted will be bound by all regulations and requirements in effect at the time of his re-admission and such additional requirements as may be prescribed by the Law School Faculty Committee on Academic Standards.

Registration with the State Bar Commission

The State Bar Commission of Alabama requires that every person entering a law school with the intention of thereafter applying to the Alabama Bar must file a written notice of his or her intention to begin the study of law and thereafter apply for admission to the Alabama Bar with the Secretary of the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar.

The application forms used for registration with the State Bar Commission together with forms used for character affidavits and a sheet of instructions may be obtained from the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law or by writing directly to Reginald Hamner, Esq., Secretary, Alabama State Bar, P. O. Box 2106, Montgomery, Alabama. Forms used for Tennessee registration may be obtained directly from the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law. Forms for Florida may be obtained from the Dean of the School of Law or directly from James B. Tippin, Executive Director, Florida Board of Bar Examiners, Supreme Court Building, Tallahassee, Florida.

Students who expect to practice law in states other than Alabama, Tennessee, or Florida, should investigate similar requirements in such states or should consult with the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law before registering.

Policy on Credit from other Law School as a Transient Student from the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University

In order to permit students at the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University to participate in the most innovative summer programs in the nation, students with adequate proven scholastic ability will be approved as transient students to attend programs sponsored by other American law schools which are members of the Association of American Law Schools. These programs would include the study in England, Belgium, Israel and Mexico sponsored by several American law schools. It would also include the clinical programs, the urban studies programs and other similar programs sponsored by other law schools or that may be devised from time to time which would meet our faculty approval.

In order to receive credit on these programs, the American law school sponsoring such program must grant credit toward its own first professional degree on the specific course undertaken by the student. Except with special permission, the subjects taken must be used in lieu of electives at the Cumberland School of Law. A transcript must be furnished by the sponsoring American law school indicating the course, grade and credit. If residence credit is to be permitted, a minimum of five semester hours must be earned during the summer term.

Under special circumstances, a student from out of state will be permitted to take specific courses of particular importance within his state as a transient student in a member school within his state, which credit will be acceptable toward his degree at the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University.

Academic Regulations

The Grading System: Students are graded in their academic achievements according to a system of letter grades with quality points assigned as noted below:

A — 3.0	D — 0.0
B+ — 2.5	F — 0.0
B — 2.0	I — Incomplete
C+ — 1.5	WP — Withdrawal Passing
C — 1.0	WF — Withdrawal Failing
D+ — .5

Report of Grades: Generally the report of a student's grades for each semester is sent to the student personally. Usually the grade reports are not ready until two weeks following the close of a semester.

Attendance in Class: Regularity and punctuality in class attendance are strictly enforced. No student may take an examination or receive credit in a course if he has been absent in the course in excess of 20 per cent of the class periods. The Dean and the faculty will consider requests for permission to be absent because of emergency conditions. Absence from classes is a factor which may be taken into consideration in determining final grades.

Academic Standards: Rules of the Faculty Committee on Academic Standards governing probation and dismissal of students with academic deficiencies:

All students in the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University are required to maintain an overall cumulative grade point average of "C" (1.0 on a 3 point scale). However, a beginning student may be permitted two academic semesters to attain an overall cumulative grade point average of 1.0 unless his first academic semester's overall cumulative grade point average is less than 0.5, in which case he will be dismissed for academic deficiency at the termination of his first academic semester.* Any student who in his first semester receives 0.5 but less than a 1.0 and who does not have an overall cumulative grade point average of 1.0 at the end of his second semester will be dismissed for academic deficiency at the termination of his second semester and will remain ineligible for re-admission.*

After satisfactory completion of the first two academic semesters, any student who thereafter fails to maintain an overall cumulative grade point average of 1.0 for any academic semester or summer term will automatically, without written notice, be placed on probation and be permitted to continue attendance for the next succeeding academic semester or summer term on a probationary status after which his overall cumulative grade point average must be no less than 1.0 or he will be dismissed and will remain ineligible for re-admission.*

Convocation Attendance

All full-time students (10 hours) are required to attend nine Convocation Programs each semester. The Convocation-Chapel programs are intended to be of value to all members of the academic community at Samford University.

Students whose last class on Wednesday is completed by 9:00 a.m. or whose first class on Wednesday begins after 12:00 noon are excused from this requirement. Requests for other exceptions should be made to the University Chapel Committee through the Office of Administrative Affairs. Provision is made for students to make up two absences from required programs in either of the following ways:

- (1) By attending special programs. These special programs may include the five voluntary chapel programs and/or approved programs conducted by individual schools.
- (2) By completing a reading assignment (not to exceed sixty minutes average reading time) on a subject related to the Chapel/Convocation purpose. Assignments and reports are under the direction of the University Chapel Committee.

Absences in excess of two each semester shall become a disciplinary matter that will be handled by the University Discipline Committee.

*Receipt of official grade report from the University Registrar's Office indicating grades for specific courses and overall cumulative grade point average shall constitute official written notice to the student of his academic status.

Tuition And Fees

Tuition The basic rate for the law student is $41.25* per semester hour, not including variable expenses such as books, supplies, and special charges for late registration, change of schedule, etc. All student charges are payable at the beginning of the semester.

After completion of the registration procedure, an invoice will be sent to the person indicated by the student on his registration forms. The invoice will reflect any previous credits to the student's account (or any unpaid balances). The amount shown on the invoice must be paid by the date designated on the invoice. Payment after the due date will incur a $10.00 penalty.

Students who wish to arrange a deferred payment plan are referred to the Birmingham Trust National Bank or any one of the several lending and trust agencies which cooperate with the University in this connection. It should be noted that it is the sole responsibility of the student and/or his parents to make deferred payment arrangements in advance of registration.

Refunds No deduction will be allowed for any course dropped after two weeks from the first day of registration. In order to be eligible for any reduction in charges or refunds for withdrawal or suspension from the University, the student must present an official withdrawal card dated and signed by the Dean of the Law School. If a student withdraws or is suspended he will be required to pay the University the following percentage of all tuition and fees applying to that semester (the first day of registration will be considered the first day of school):

1. Withdrawal or suspension before classes begin—10% (in no case less than the application deposit)
2. Within two weeks after the beginning of the semester—20% (not less than $50.00)

*Every possible effort is made by the University to avoid tuition increases; however, the University must reserve the right to change tuition at its discretion. Such changes are considered by the Board of Trustees in its annual May meeting. Since the catalog for the following school year is published prior to this meeting, it is impossible to have the final tuition figure for inclusion in the catalog. Whenever a change is made by the trustees, students and their parents will be notified promptly by mail.

3. After two weeks, but prior to six weeks—50%
4. Six weeks and thereafter—100%
5. Refunds for a summer term will be adjusted in a comparable manner, but based upon a fewer number of weeks in attendance. No refunds will be made after three weeks.

Fees For Drops and Adds

Drops and adds are changes in a schedule that do not involve complete withdrawal from school. During the first two weeks of the term, these rules apply:

1. If a student changes his schedule but does not reduce the total number of hours for which he originally registered, he will pay a $3 change of schedule fee plus the applicable tuition and fees on any hours added.
2. If a schedule change results in a reduction of the student's total hours, tuition and fees will be adjusted, but a charge of $7 will be made for each hour by which the original total is reduced. For example:

Drop 3 hours and add'2—charge $ 7
 Drop 3 hours and add 1—charge $14
 Drop 3 hours and add 0—charge $21

3. Courses may not be added after the first two weeks of the term. If a course is dropped after the first two weeks of the term, no reduction in charges will be made.
4. Each change in schedule is considered a separate transaction and previous transactions will have no bearing on the calculation of charges.
5. All charges for drops and adds must be paid in the Student Accounts Office in cash before the transaction can be completed. None of these fees can be added to the student's invoice.

Please note that it will benefit the student to register only for the number of hours he is sure he can take. It will be less expensive to add hours than to drop hours.

There are numerous apartment complexes near the Samford campus. Students should make their own arrangements for off-campus housing.

On Campus Housing: For students preferring to live on campus, Samford provides six residence halls containing single, double, and triple rooms, some with private baths, some with connecting baths, but most with baths on the halls. Most rooms have phones, but some do not.

A room deposit of $25.00, required as long as a room is occupied, is refundable, upon 30 days notice, at the end of a term. If a reservation is cancelled at least 60 days before the beginning of the term, $12.50 of the room deposit will be refunded; if notice of cancellation is not received at least 60 days before the beginning of the term, no refund can be made.

Regulations governing residence hall occupants are established by the administration and are published in The Student Handbook.

If a student moves out of the residence hall for any reason, he will be required to pay the University the following percentage of his room rent:

1. Within two weeks after the beginning of the semester ..... 20%
2. After two weeks, but prior to six weeks ..... 50%
3. Six weeks and thereafter ..... 100%

Cumberland-Samford Law Review

The Review is composed of articles on a broad range of topics, with some emphasis on Alabama Law. Approximately half of each publication is written by students, and the remainder written by members of the bar; law school professors, and other specialists in various fields. Because of the rigorous intellectual demands which law review imposes upon the members of the Review, only those students with superior scholastic records are selected for staff membership. Members of the Editorial Board are selected on the basis of scholarship and past performance in law review work. Law review membership is a high academic honor and law review experience is considered ideal training for the practice of law. Two credits for graduation may be awarded for work satisfactory to the Editorial Board and Faculty Advisors.
